1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background

Zambia has solid legal, policy, and institutional frameworks that promote Citizen Engagement (CE) in local development processes. CE is recognized in the Constitution, thereby underscoring its role as a foundation of democracy. It demonstrates the government's commitment to accountability and transparency in the delivery of development initiatives at all levels.

Building on the efforts of past governments, the current government has accelerated the decentralization process. Selected central government functions have been devolved to Local Government level, with the Ministry of Local Government and Rural Development (MLGRD) as the lead coordinating ministry.

This decentralization agenda has been facilitated with support from the World Bank through the Zambia Devolution Support Programme (ZDSP) since 2022. This process provides Local Authorities (LAs) in Zambia, including Kabwe Municipal Council (KMC) with a critical opportunity to strengthen CE within their jurisdictions. The process aims to promote community ownership of development initiatives while enhancing transparency and accountability in the use of public resources by LAs.

A Diagnostic Assessment (DA) conducted by a World Bank team in November 2024 revealed that CE practices within Local Authorities are uneven, poorly coordinated, and not consistently mainstreamed into budgeting processes. While there is a structured process for identifying projects under the Constituency Development Fund (CDF) and engaging citizens at the start of the budget cycle, follow-up engagement on the implementation of the budget remains limited across all LAs.

To address these gaps, KMC has developed this Citizen Engagement Strategy (CES) to provide a framework for the principles and practices that the Council will adopt to ensure more inclusive and systematic citizen engagement in Kabwe. The document outlines practical guidance, including roles, methods, tools, and templates that the Council will use to mainstream CE into Output-Based Budgeting (OBB) and Public Investment Management (PIM) processes. It is designed to empower citizens, improve participatory decision-making, and strengthen trust between the Council and the communities it serves.

1.2 Current C.E. Efforts by Kabwe Municipal Council

Kabwe Municipal Council has invested in several Citizen Engagement (CE) initiatives within the budgeting and project cycle processes. The initiatives aim to strengthen citizen participation, transparency, and accountability in service delivery and development planning.

The Council facilitates project identification and prioritization through Ward Development Committees (WDCs), which serve as a direct link between communities and the Council, particularly during the Kabwe Integrated Development Plan (KIDP) 2023-2028 preparation. Public consultations are held in the form of open meetings, bringing together stakeholders to deliberate on budgetary and development priorities.

The Council has embraced digital platforms as a means of enhancing communication and feedback with citizens. For example:

Type	Platform / URL	Purpose
Official Website	https://www.kabwecouncil.gov.zm/	Dynamic news, budget updates, CDF tracker, public notices, contact info
Facebook Page	Kabwe Municipal Council Facebook Page	Share public notices, project updates, press statements, and photos; citizens interact with PR unit
WhatsApp Groups	Ward-based and CDF info groups	Real-time information sharing between ward officials, councillors, and citizens

Beyond digital engagement, local radio programmes and physical notice boards ensure information reaches citizens without internet access. Deliberate efforts include the inclusion of women, youth, people living with disabilities, and traditional leaders in CE processes.

Gaps identified include:

- Lack of CE structure in non-CDF projects
- CE limited to selective OBB stages
- Limited citizen engagement on non-CDF projects and Bill Of Quantities (BOQ) feedback
- Unstructured Grievance Redress Mechanisms (GRMs)
- Limited resources for WDCs
- Absence of permanent offices and ID cards for WDCs
- Weak M and E due to non-functional subcommittees

The CES addresses these gaps through structured feedback mechanisms, expanded inclusivity, standardized documentation, and capacity building.

2. VISION, AIM AND OBJECTIVES

2.1 Vision

Creating a transparent, inclusive, and accountable governance system where citizens actively participate in decision-making, planning, budgeting, and monitoring, fostering trust, ownership, and sustainable local development by 2028.

2.2 Aim

Facilitate more inclusive, transparent, accountable, and active CE in budgeting and project cycle processes, enabling citizens to make informed decisions about development in their communities.

2.3 Objectives

1. To strengthen Ward Development Committees (WDCs) and other public forums to ensure community voices are consistently heard.
2. Implement participatory budgeting processes that deliberately involve women, youth, and persons with disabilities.
3. Improve communication and feedback mechanisms via notice boards, community meetings, social media, and other platforms.

3. APPROACHES AND METHODS OF ENGAGEMENT

Kabwe Municipal Council will adopt the following initiatives to promote inclusive engagement, recognizing that citizens come from diverse contexts. The Council will ensure that civic leaders and citizens interact meaningfully so that engagement is not one-sided. Since citizen engagement is a continuous process, the Council will employ multiple avenues and mechanisms to communicate with stakeholders effectively. The following approaches will be used:

A. Citizen Participation in Key Decision-Making and Budget Cycle

The Kabwe Municipal Council (KMC) team will use the initiatives below for inclusive engagement, taking into account that citizens come from diverse backgrounds and contexts. The engagement process will ensure meaningful interaction between citizens and civic leaders so that participation is not one-sided. As citizen engagement is continuous, the Council will use multiple avenues and mechanisms to communicate effectively with various stakeholders. Key methods include:

- Town Hall Budget Hearings: Town hall budget hearings will be presented well ahead of time to stakeholders to obtain feedback including allocations to different programs/sub programs, key outputs, and selected projects.
- Focus Group Discussions: Discussions of budgets with specific groups such as women, youth, persons with disabilities, and other marginalized groups will be held to ensure free and inclusive expression of views.

- Radio and Community Announcements: Local radio stations will be used to broadcast citizen engagement opportunities and budget information.
- Suggestion Boxes: Suggestion boxes will be placed in strategic points, such as the Civic Centre reception and other public offices, with submissions encouraged in both English and local languages to increase accessibility.

B. Citizen Monitoring of Budget and Project Implementation

Citizens will thoroughly be engaged in project identification, as well as monitoring of budgets and project implementation. This is in order to promote transparency, accountability, and improved service delivery in local governance. The Council will adopt the following mechanisms:

- Ward Development Committee (WDC) Sub-Committees: Strengthen Finance and Infrastructure Sub-Committees by clearly defining their roles and responsibilities in tracking projects, reviewing budgets, and reporting irregularities.
- Capacity Building: Provide training for WDC members on interpreting budget documents, monitoring technical specifications, and reporting findings effectively.
- Project Plans and Timelines: Share project implementation schedules and milestones with citizens prior to and during execution to enhance transparency.
- Community Checklists and Scorecards: Enable citizens to assess project progress through standardized tools facilitated by WDCs.
- Social Audit Meetings: Convene community forums where expenditures are reviewed against actual outputs to assess value for money.
- Improved Reporting to Citizens:
 - Use technology platforms (e.g., social media, website, WhatsApp groups) for real-time reporting on project progress.
 - Publish regular updates and summary reports accessible to all citizens

Selected stakeholders will form part of the team as the council conducts monitoring visits.

4. IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

4.1 Current Status of Citizen Engagement

An assessment of citizen engagement within the Local Authority shows that there are existing foundations that provide opportunities for strengthening citizen participation. However, the current practices remain fragmented, with limited inclusivity and weak institutionalization.

4.1.1 Current Strengths in Citizen Engagement

Citizen engagement has benefited from some positive developments. Ward Development Committees (WDCs) are now established in all the twenty-nine (29) wards in Kabwe. The district has two constituencies, namely Kabwe Central Constituency with fourteen (14) wards, and Bwacha Constituency with fifteen (15) wards. The existence of WDCs provide a structured mechanism for communities to identify and prioritize projects. For example, in the process of preparing the Kabwe Integrated Development Plan (KIDP) 2023-2028, WDCs were guided to engage community members to identify and prioritize projects for inclusion in the IDP, based on community needs. Periodic community meetings are conducted, particularly around the Constituency Development Fund (CDF) process. This creates space for citizens to voice their needs and concerns.

In terms of information sharing, some disclosure is taking place. Project and budget-related information is occasionally posted on notice boards, aired on community radio, and shared through some reports. In addition, informal feedback mechanisms such as suggestion boxes or direct verbal communication with the Mayor, Councillors WDC members, as well as KMC officers provide basic opportunities for citizens to communicate concerns. These strengths indicate that a foundation for citizen participation exists and can be built upon.

4.1.2 Key Gaps and Challenges

Despite the positive strides, several gaps hinder effective citizen engagement in Kabwe. Extensive engagement is largely associated with CDF projects. This means that many development initiatives may not be well informed by citizen perspectives. Furthermore, participation may not have been sufficiently inclusive, especially with regard to the youth and persons with disabilities.

The timing and locations of engagements also present a challenge, especially to persons with disabilities. Consultations tend to occur mainly at the formulation stage of the budget cycle, with minimal opportunity for communities to participate in implementation, adjustment, or evaluation. This weakens accountability on the part of KMC and restricts citizens from tracking project progress.

Information flows remain inadequate. Budget documents are often highly technical and not simplified for public use, making them inaccessible to ordinary citizens, including many youths. Communities are also not consistently informed about which projects are approved, the status of their implementation, or reasons for delays and adjustments.

Capacity limitations further reduce the effectiveness of engagement. WDCs and community members generally lack skills in budget analysis, project appraisal, and monitoring.

Another significant gap is the weakness of grievance redress mechanisms (GRMs). Few structured channels exist for citizens to report complaints or track responses. Feedback loops are inconsistent, often leading to frustration and disengagement among community members.

Finally, monitoring and evaluation of citizen engagement remains limited. There is no systematic framework for tracking participation levels, inclusivity, or responsiveness of the Local Authority. Data on engagement activities, such as the number of participants, demographic representation, or issues raised, is somewhat fragmented.

4.1.3 Opportunities for Improvement

Despite these challenges, there are clear opportunities to strengthen citizen engagement. One important opportunity is to institutionalize engagement across all stages of the Output-Based Budgeting (OBB) and Project Implementation Management (PIM) cycles, ensuring continuous input from project identification through evaluation.

Capacity-building programs for WDCs, Local Authority staff, and citizens can enhance understanding of budgets, planning processes, and monitoring tools. This would enable more meaningful participation. Developing accessible communication tools, such as simplified budget briefs, radio summaries, and visual dashboards would improve transparency and ensure communities have the information they need to engage effectively.

Formalizing and integrating Grievance Redress Mechanisms (GRMs) into council operations would help track complaints and ensure that responses are documented and communicated back to communities. In addition, digital platforms can be leveraged to complement physical meetings, expanding outreach especially to youth and urban populations who are more active online.

Finally, establishing a systematic monitoring and evaluation framework with clear indicators for participation, inclusivity, and responsiveness would enable the Local Authority to assess the effectiveness of its engagement efforts and continuously improve its practices.

6. BUDGET (FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE CE PROCESS)

There will be consideration for the inclusion of specific budget lines to support the effective implementation of the Citizen Engagement Strategy (CES) under the Council's annual Output-Based Budget (OBB). These allocations will ensure sustained citizen participation, communication, monitoring, and feedback mechanisms throughout the planning and project implementation cycles.

7. MONITORING, EVALUATION AND REPORTING

The monitoring, evaluation, and reporting (M&E) framework will provide a systematic approach to track progress in the implementation of the Citizen Engagement Strategy (CES). It will ensure that activities are implemented as planned, that resources are efficiently utilized, and that the process remains inclusive, transparent, and responsive to community needs.

7.1 Monitoring Approach

Monitoring will be conducted on a continuous basis to track progress of engagement activities, identify challenges, and provide timely feedback for corrective action. The Planning Department, in collaboration with the Public Relations Office and the Monitoring and Evaluation (M and E) Unit, will lead this process. Key indicators will include:

- Number of engagement meetings held and attendance levels across the district's 29 wards.
- Number of citizens participating in planning and budgeting sessions.
- Number and type of grievances received and resolved through the Grievance Redress Mechanism (GRM).
- Quality and timeliness of information dissemination to stakeholders.
- Degree of responsiveness of Council departments to citizen feedback.

Monitoring data will be collected using activity reports, attendance registers, feedback forms, and media coverage records.

7.2 Evaluation

Periodic evaluations will be conducted to assess the overall effectiveness, efficiency, and impact of the Citizen Engagement Strategy. Evaluations will focus on:

- The extent to which citizen engagement has influenced decision-making and budget priorities.
- The effectiveness of communication and feedback mechanisms.
- The level of stakeholder satisfaction with the engagement process.

Findings from evaluations will inform revisions of the CE Strategy to enhance future performance and sustainability.

7.3 Reporting

Monitoring and evaluation results will be compiled into quarterly and annual reports. These reports will summarize key achievements, challenges, and recommendations for improvement.

Reports will be shared with:

- The Council Management Team and Full Council.
- Ward Development Committees (WDCs) and community representatives.
- The Ministry of Local Government and Rural Development (MLGRD).
- Development partners supporting governance and citizen engagement initiatives.

To promote transparency and accountability, monitoring reports will be published through various communication platforms including:

- The Kabwe Municipal Council website.
- Public notice boards at the Civic Centre and Ward Offices.
- Community radio programs and social media platforms.
- Dissemination during ward meetings and town hall sessions.

7.4 Feedback and Grievance Redress Mechanism (GRM)

The existing Feedback and Grievance Redress Mechanism will be integrated into the M and E framework to ensure continuous flow of information and citizen feedback throughout the budget and project cycle.

Citizens will have access to multiple feedback channels such as:

- Suggestion boxes at ward and council offices.
- Dedicated phone hotline and email.
- Community liaison officers.
- Digital reporting through the council website or social media.

All grievances or inquiries will be logged, tracked, and responded to within defined timelines to enhance trust and accountability in council operations.

7.5 Learning and Adaptation

Lessons learned from the monitoring and evaluation process will be documented and shared during annual CES review sessions. These lessons will guide the adjustment of strategies, ensure continuous improvement, and promote institutional learning within the Council.

8. CONCLUSION

The development of this Citizen Engagement Strategy (CES) underscores the Council's recognition of the critical role that citizens play in promoting democratic governance and ensuring that public resources are utilized effectively for people-centred development.

The CES seeks to systematize and strengthen citizen participation mechanisms that have existed in fragmented forms by providing a coherent framework for structured, inclusive, and continuous engagement across all stages of the planning, budgeting, and project implementation cycles.

Through this Strategy, the Council reaffirms its commitment to inclusivity, transparency, and accountability in all its operations. It establishes clear mechanisms for information dissemination, dialogue, feedback, and joint monitoring between the Council and its citizens. This will not only promote shared ownership of development initiatives but also enhance public trust in local governance systems.

The implementation of the CES will ensure that citizens are not only informed but are active contributors to decision-making processes that affect their communities. By integrating tools such as the Grievance Redress Mechanism (GRM), accessible communication platforms, and systematic monitoring and evaluation frameworks, the Council aims to create a participatory culture where engagement becomes a continuous and institutionalized practice rather than an occasional event.

Ultimately, this Strategy positions the Council to deliver more responsive, transparent, and equitable services, ensuring that development outcomes truly reflect community priorities and contribute to sustainable, inclusive growth within the district.
